Academic Hoods and Honors

The medieval monks wore a distinctive garb which included a robe and hood. These served a very functional purpose, and the Benedictine monk even today uses his hood to keep the cold wind and rain from his head when he walks about in winter or the early hours of dawn.

Since the college in the Western world had its rise largely in the monastic or cathedral schools, the use of the academic gown and hood has very naturally evolved from these monastic garbs with the colors added as they moved from the cloister to the classroom.

Present-day academic hoods consist of two parts – an inner part which reveals the colors of the college or university granting the degree, and an outer part which indicates the department or profession in which the degree was earned.

In assigning the colors to signify the respective faculties, the Intercollegiate Commission retained, as far as practicable, historical associations. White for the department of arts is taken from the white fur edging of the Oxford hood; red, traditional color of the church, was assigned to theology; green, the color of herbs, for medicine; golden yellow for science, etc.

- Ralph L. Ruhlen

The following is a list of the hood and tassel colors that represent some of the different departments of learning:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White
Business, Administration	Sapphire Blue
Economics	Copper
Education	Light Blue
Engineering	Orange
Fine Arts, including Architecture	Brown
Forestry	Russet
Library Science	Lemon
Medicine	Green
Music	Pink
Nursing	Apricot
Oratory (Speech)	Silver Gray
Pharmacy	Olive Green
Philosophy	Dark Blue
Physical Education	Sage Green
Public Administration	Peacock Blue
Public Health	Salmon Pink
Science	Golden Yellow
Social Science	Citron
Theology or Divinity	Scarlet
Veterinary Science	Gray

Black tassels are correct for all degrees, and colored tassels are worn by preference. Gold metallic tassels may be worn by doctors or presidents of universities and colleges.
