Grays Harbor College

Foreword

Let this, the 1947 Nautilus, be your memory book and your record of days at Grays Harbor College.

It has been the desire of the staff to record in this yearbook small remembrances of various phases of our school life, the classes, activities and athletics.

Our purpose has been strengthened with the thought that we have had the privilege of working on the first Nautilus in several years and with the hope that our meager efforts can serve as some inspiration for the continuation of annual publications at Grays Harbor College.

It is with a sincere desire for these ends that we compose and publish this book, The Nautilus for 1947.

Dean's Message

STUDENTS OF GRAYS HARBOR COLLEGE:

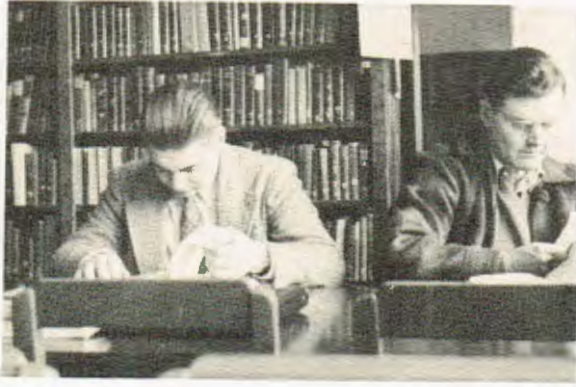

I am pleased to have this opportunity to write these words of greeting and good wishes to you.

The College is now completing its seventeenth year--soon we shall be out of our teens. We all rejoice that the year has been one of progress marked by the College's biggest enrollment, its largest faculty, a considerably increased number of course offerings, and a revival of an extensive program of extracurricular activities. In spite of limited facilities and accommodations, too-large classes, and other inconveniences, we have had a good year.

Especially encouraging has been the character of the students enrolled this year, young people of ability and purposefulness who are preparing for important places in the days ahead. We regret that the number of young women has been so small and hope that next year there will be more in attendance to add more beauty and charm and vivacity to the life of the college community.

"Man's character is his destiny" --and the character of a college's student body is its destiny. A great future lies ahead of Grays Harbor College. May your tomorrows be as rich in the fulfillment of today's promise.

The Grays Harbor College basketball team had a highly successful season and ended in third place in the newly formed Washington State Junior College league. The Chokers turned in some excellent performances and have the distinction of being undefeated on their home floor in conference play.

All conference honors went to Don Davidson, who was named to the first team, and to Gene Snider, Gene Sampair and Bob Basich, who were given honorable mention. Sampair was awarded the Benson Basketball Trophy, which is given on a basis of athletic ability, inspirational leadership and scholarship.

The outstanding game this year was the tilt against league-leading Clark J. C. of Vancouver. The first half was a one-sided affair, mainly because the over-anxious Chokers were unable to find the hoop. Clark, at one time, was 17 points ahead of the Chokers and at the half, the score was 24-13 in favor of the Vancouverites.

The second half started much the same as the first, with Clark adding two quick baskets before the Chokers caught fire. Then the Grays Harbor five, each man a fighting part of the team, started their comeback. Basket by basket, point by point, the Chokers cut away the Vancouver lead. With each Choker point, the crowd screamed madly, becoming more hysterical as the time ran out. With but ten seconds remaining, Snider tied the game at 39-39, sending the game into an overtime period.

The Chokers made ten points in the overtime, Snider contributed six points and bringing his total for the game to 15, while Davidson added four for a total of 13. Clark made but five points in the extra period, losing its first game in eleven starts to the hard fighting Chokers, 49-44.

The home game against Yakima was a thriller from start to finish, and had to go into an overtime period. The last shot of the game by a Kakima player gave Coach Eddie Smith quite a few gray hairs and is still being talked about by players and spectators alike. The ball hit the basket as the gun sounded, hesitated on the rim and then dropped off, giving the Chokers a 54-53 win.

Against Everett, the Chokers played the entire game without a substitution. Led by Don Davidson, who took individual scoring honors, the "iron man" five came from behind to win by a score of 57-52.

Much could be said about the individual performances of the players, the coaching of Eddie Smith, but in the limited space available, we can but remind you to look over the statistics and judge for yourselves the ability of GHC's basketball squad.

Next season, barring unforeseen events, the present Choker aggregation will return intact as everyone of them are first year members of Grays Harbor College. With the addition of several promising high school graduates, GHC should be a leading contender for the state title next year. The loss of Coach Eddie Smith to the local high school will be a heavy blow to the Chokers, but the naming of Walter Price, former assistant coach at the University of Idaho, gives us a man well qualified to fill the position vacated by Smith. The students of Grays Harbor College will be behind Coach Price and the Chokers in their bid for the state title next year.

Baseball

These smiling horse-hiders had a split-osis jinx placed on them for four consecutive doubleheaders. They won and lost one game each from Yakima, Lower Columbia, Olympic and Everett. The jinx was finally broken during the Clark series--the Chokers losing both games by one run.

Dick Sims and Junior Louderback were the Choker mound representatives. Bob Sims was behind the plate, Don Bower on first, Bob Basich on second, Captain Ronnie Foresell at short and Ronnie Gardner was on third. In the outfield were Vic Ohls, Don Davidson, Denny Bochenski, John Lindberg, Lorne Lusier and Dick Hannula.

Phi Theta Kappa

First row: Hillier, O'Conner, Husby, Morford, Garrison, J. Moir, W. Moyer.
Second row: R. Olson, J. Harris.
Back row: M. Eklund, F. Williams, Marlow, Gudger, Roebeck, Robinson, B. Brooks, P. Basich.

This year, Beta Iota chapter of Phi Theta Kappa initiated thirteen members and was the scholastic goal of many students. To be eligible for membership, a student must have at least 3.0 average, be in the upper 10% of the studentbody scholastically and be enrolled for at least fifteen academic hours in arts and sciences.

Officers included: president, Jack Harris; vice-president, Dorothy Gudger; secretary, Patricia Clemons; treasurer, Frances Williams. Dr. George Allen Odgers was the advisor.

Student Christian

Open to all denominations and an organization designed to give Christian students an opportunity to worship and meet together, the Student Christian Association was a familiar part of our college life. Under the guidance of Professor A. J. Hillier, the group took part in Y.M.C.A. work and also sponsored a college assembly in April.

Officers who served this year were president, Norman Smith; vice-president, Frances Williams; secretary-treasurer, Alva Brooks.

First row: N. Smith, A. Brooks, F. Williams, Harlow. Back row: Hillier, Kephart, Mr. Alfred J. Hillier.

Galen Society

The purpose of the Galen Society is to provide a organization whereby all students registered in Pre-Medicine, Pre-Dentistry, Pre-Pharmacy, and Pre-Nursing may gain information related to their interests. Monthly meetings were held at the college during the designated club hour. During the year, two guest speakers, Dr. Milton Graham and Dr. John Canterbury, discussed socialized medicine and dentistry respectively at two evening meetings. Miss Blanche Graff served as the advisor. Officers and members of the Galen Society were president, Harvey Lund; vice-president, Frances Williams; secretary-treasurer, Robert Baker; Wallace McBride, Arthur Ferris, Joan Cunningham, Jessie Robbins, and Jack Watkins.

First row: F. Williams, Miss Blanche Graff, J. Robbins.
Second row: H. Lund, R. Baker.

Engineers Club

The touring of Boeing Plant in Seattle and a trip to Grand Coulee Dam were the two major activities enjoyed by the Engineers Club this year. The Public Utility District No. 1 was also visited. This large organization, made up of college students enrolled in engineering courses, had as its purpose the stimulation of interest in engineering and the studying of future vocation possibilities. Led by President Edgar Moir and his corps of officers, vice-president, Dale Carlson, and secretary-treasurer, Donald Irving, the Engineers closed an eventful year.

First row: Roehl, Matich, Jacobson, R. Carlson, Piccolo, Bohenski, Dale, Smading, Irving, Jasper.
Second row: O'Conner, M. Eklund, D. Carlson, J. Gudger, Moir, D. Walker, S. Robbins, Stuart, Matson, J. Fuquay, R. Jasper.

Timberline

First row: Lusier, Linklater, Ramsey.

Back row: Cunningham, B. Fraser, D. Gudger, Hoonan, Miss Mary Mathewson.

Being published every two weeks, the TIMBER LINE was a welcome part of our college life. The Journalism Department took over the reins at the beginning of the first semester and continued to prove an efficient force throughout the year. The printing of our paper was done by the Aberdeen School Press. Heading the staff as editor for the first semester was Dale Gunderson. Other staff members were news editor, Dorothy Gudger; copy editor, Melvin Eklund; feature editor, Doris Sharp; business manager, Barbara Jordan; circulation manager, Francis Linklater. Miss Mary Mathewson and Mr. Ralph Dever were the advisors.

Timberline

Continuing to serve the college through the second semester, the TIMBER LINE staff still faithfully gathered news items and copy for the columns of our paper. The compiling was done and the finishing touches were added at the "shack."

"We would rather arouse your indignation than your indifference" was the motto of the department. Francis Linklater, editor, was assisted by news editor, Tom Barkley; copy editor, Gilbert Johnson; sports editor, Charles Hoonan; feature editor, Peter Basich; advertising managers, Howard Strand and Rolf Stoleson; circulation manager, Delores Borden; and the two advisors.

First row: P. Basich, Borden, Linklater, Ramsey.

Second row: Hoff, Lusier, B. Fraser, Hoonan.

Third row: Davidson, J. Hayes, R. Stoleson, Miss Mary Mathewson.

Back row: Worthley, Strand.

Nautilus

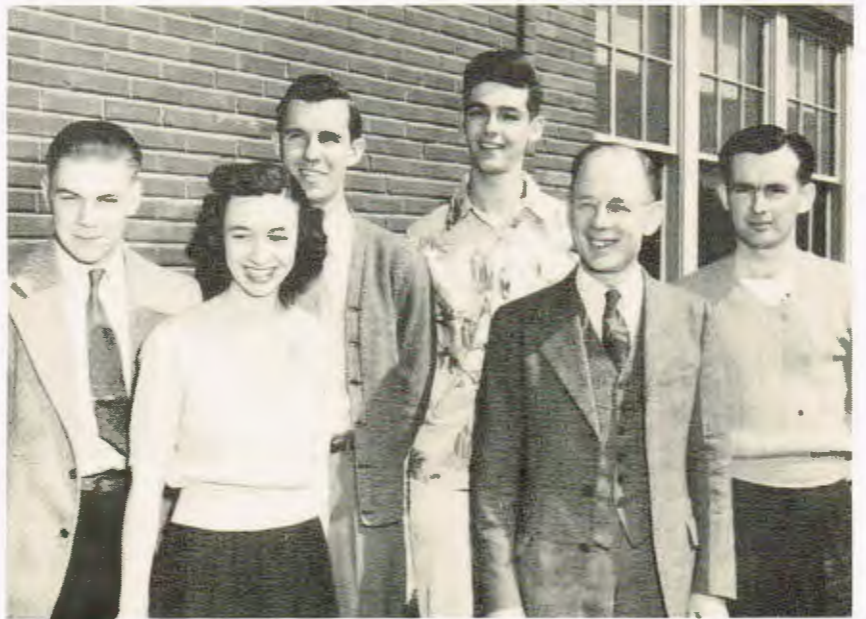

For the first time in several years, the NAUTILUS was revived this year to take its place in our college life. After many days and nights of worry over the many details, the staff finally heaved sighs of relief when the copy was completed and sent off to Topeka, Kansas. Many students contributed "snaps" of local scenes and personalities. Thus, after a full year of classes, athletics, and activities, we have the NAUTILUS to show efforts spent here at Grays Harbor College. Staff members were Dorothy Gudger, Editor; Peter Basich, publications commissioner; Alva Brooks, sophomore editor; Donald Tischner, photographer; Robert Smith, art editor; and Beverley Brooks, freshman editor.

Forensics

On March 14 and 15, Grays Harbor was the only junior college to place, and won four out of its six debates at a tournament held at the College of Puget Sound. Other activities were a practice tournament at CPS and an inter-college debate with Pacific University. In addition, all team members became charter members of a newly-organized chapter of Phi Rho Pi, national junior college forensic fraternity.

Professor A. J. Hillier served as coach, and Dwight Hillier represented the team on the Executive Board.

First row: B. Brooks, Tischner, A. Brooks. Back row: R. Smith, D. Gudger, P. Basich.

First row: Marlow, Mr. Alfred J. Hillier. Back row: D. Hillier, Garrison, Linklater, Charette.

First row: J. Hayes, J. Harvey, F. Dineen. Back row: P. Misitano, R. Smith, E. Haukeli.

What would the games have been without the Pep Squad? In spite of the fact that their sweaters did not arrive until the second semester, the Squad carried out their duties with much enthusiasm. Their spirit and cheer leading at the assemblies and games played an important part in inciting the Chokers on to third place in the junior college basketball league. This year's song queens were Phyllis Misitano, Ruth Smith and Esther Haukeli, and filling the staff of yell leaders were James Harvey, Jack Hayes and Fred Dineen.

Pep Band

This year, as a result of hard work on the part of several college students, a pep band was formed to aid in cheering the team on to victory. Although the organization was small, it did not lack pep or enthusiasm and it was a very, very welcome sight to behold at the local games. It was a familiar sound to hear the strains of "On, Grays Harbor" issuing forth some quiet evening from the depths of the Miller Auditorium where the band practiced. The members really deserved a lot of praise and congratulations.

Harbor Knights

Newly formed this year, the Harbor Knights, activity honorary society for sophomore men, lived up to their standards by participating whole-heartedly in college activities. Knight membership is a much-desired goal. A student must have no mark less than a "C", and must be capable of observing the code of the organization which is to honorably promote college spirit. Charter members chosen by student leaders and the faculty advisory committee were: Raymond G. Matich, duke; Leonard L. Piccolo, chancelor of the exchequer; Dale A. Carlson, scribe; Jack R. Harris, recorder; Robert R. Charette and Karl Kunz. Doctor George Allen Odgers served as the advisor.

Tyee

The chapter of Tyee, the women's honorary activity society, was organized on April 1, and charter members are Patricia Ann Clemons, Dorothy Gudger, Jane Marlow, and Dorothy Mullins. The organization is similar to the Harbor Knights. Two purposes of the society are to serve as a hospitality committee and to aid at social functions at the college. Five freshman girls were pledged this year including Dorothy Berg, Jean Hesla, Lorraine Knutson, and Beverley Brooks.

Patricia Clemons, president; Dorothy Gudger, vice-president; Jane Marlow, recorder; and Dorothy Mullins, secretary-treasurer, were the corps of officers.

A. D. Rho

First row: W. Erickson, R. Smith, D. Reid, Hawkinson, George.
Second row: P. Misitano, Talley, P. Reid, Hesla, A. Strom.
Third row: Saurage, Marlow, Rosengarten, D. Berg, S. Marrs, Forslund.
Back row: Levinson, Lyse, Suddereth, Bevandich.

Highlighted by a Christmas dance at the Grays Harbor Country Club, a successful year was completed by the Alpha Delta Rho sorority. Other social functions were carried out and a joint sorority tea honoring all senior girls of Grays Harbor County high schools was held in late May. The sorority colors are silver and black, and the flower is the violet. First semester officers were president, Doris Sharp; vice-president, Delores Saurage; secretary, Patt Vidich; and treasurer, Wiloma Erickson. Presiding for the second semester were president, Ruth Smith; vice-president, Drucilla Reid; secretary, Jeanette Hawkinson; and treasurer, Wiloma Erickson. Miss Mary Mathewson was the advisor.

Nu Beta Phi

First row: D. Gudger, Robinson, J. Robbins, Conklin.
Second row: B. Halverson, Mullins, F. Williams, Knutsen.
Back row: B. Brooks, B. Adams, Daugherty, Miss Anne Holey, LaChapelle, J. Cunningham, Zbyski.

Ending an eventful college year, Nu Beta Phi sorority honored the sophomore members at a farewell dinner in early June. Many activities including a join sorority tea, beach party, slumber party, bake sale, and other functions filled the calendar for 1946 and 1947. Ivy is the flower of Nu Beta Phi, and gold and white are the sorority colors. Jessie Robbins presided as president for the first semester, and Corene Robinson filled the office during the second semester. Officers who served during both the first and second semesters were vice-president, Frances Williams; secretary, Dorothy Mullins; and treasurer, Dorothy Gudger. Miss Anne Holey was the sorority advisor.

Phi Delta

Under the capable leadership of President Karl Kunz, the Phi Delta fraternity sponsored a social dance in November as one of its first activities. The purpose of the organization is social promotion in the college and support of college spirit in all functions. Meetings were held twice a month at the homes of various members. Professor Aubrey Schmidt served as advisor at fraternity gatherings. Karl Kunz presided as head of the organization for the first and second semesters, and Donald Walker filled the office of treasurer for both semesters.
