FOREWORD

The 1958-59 term at Grays Harbor College marks the first complete year on the new campus.

In contrast to the old buildings on Third and G, the modern buildings, high on a hill above the Harbor's cities and rivers, offer the student a pleasant atmosphere for study and extra-curricular activities. The students this year have felt proud of their College and thankful for the opportunities that it presents them.

In the years to come, the College will grow. Additional buildings will be constructed. The young pines on the lawn will tower above the roof. The Freshmen and Sophomores of today can then say, "I had a part in shaping this beautiful College. I am happy that it is my Alma Mater."

The President's Message

I am pleased to have this opportunity to express in the 1959 Nautilus my good wishes to the students and faculty of the college.

The college has completed its first year of residence on our new campus. I feel that the new surroundings have added much to the morale of the students and faculty of the college.

I would like to offer my personal congratulations to the sophomores upon their completion of two years of college work, and I look forward to seeing many of the freshmen return for the 1959-60 school year.

I offer my sincere thanks to the annual staff for their excellent workmanship on the 1959 Nautilus. Also, I would like to thank the faculty and students of the college for their contributions to another successful year for Grays Harbor College.

Forensics

During the past years Grays Harbor College forensic teams, ably guided by Mr. Hillier, have consistently garnered regional and national honors. This year's team, participating in five tournaments, excelled in many events.

At the Pacific Lutheran College meet in November, Ron Roberts placed first in oratory, second in extemporaneous speaking, and second in interpretative reading. Alan Tinnerstet and Ron Roberts were first in debate at both Seattle Pacific in January and College of Puget Sound in February. Tinnerstet placed second in oratory at Seattle Pacific. Andy Carlson reached the finals in impromptu speaking at Linfield College in March.

This year the National Junior College Tournament was held at Grays Harbor College. Karmen Jarvela and Gail Newcomb won a tie for fourth place in the women's division debate. Ron Roberts won a national championship in extemporaneous speaking, and he and John Hogan tied for a third place trophy in men's oratory. Andy Carlson won a third place in interpretative speaking. Certificates of excellence were won in many divisions by John Pritchett, John Hogan, Ronald Roberts, Alan Tinnerstet, Andy Carlson and Karmen Jarvela.

Music Department

Life would not be life without music, and Grays Harbor College would not be the same without its fine music department.

Under the competent direction of Mr. Stensager, the College Music Department performed this year at numerous school and civic functions. During football and basketball seasons, the pep band contributed to the enthusiasm of the fans by performing at all home games.

The highlight of the year, however, was the annual tour to nearby high schools where the choir presented light numbers augmented by the band, girls' sextet, and boys' quartet.

Choir officers were John Johnson, president; Robert Tegen, secretary-treasurer; Ann Laaksonen, Karla Anderson, Jim Sortor, and Jack Prince, section leaders.
